

BONDS ARE ENDORSED

COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL ASSOCIATION SEES RESULTS OF WORK

Satisfaction for four years of anxious work was forthcoming to the members of the Los Angeles County Flood Control Association, when the final resolutions were adopted that endorsed the county's $4,450,000 bond election, at a meeting held Saturday morning in the Hall of Records.

Attorney Fred L. Baker, author of the act under which the present flood control district was formed, introduced the resolution as chairman of the executive committee of this body that has carried on the long struggle for a practical recognition of flood danger in the county. All the provisions in County Flood Control Engineer Reagan's report, which has been adopted by the board of supervisors, and which is the basis for the bond election, were approved of in the resolution, which follows:

WHEREAS, a report has been filed with and adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County Flood Control District, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of California known as the "Los Angeles County Flood Control Act," and

WHEREAS, in said report the estimated cost of harbor protection, conservation and flood control is $4,450,000, and

WHEREAS, an election has been called for the purpose of voting upon the question of the issuance of bonds in said sum of $4,450,000 for said work of harbor protection, conservation and flood control,

NOW, THEREFORE, Be it RESOLVED: That said proposed bond issue insures at once those great community ends, harbor protection, conservation of water resources, conservation of soil resources and the removal of menace of floods which destroy public and private property interrupt communications and paralyze business, and that the Los Angeles County Flood Control Association hereby endorses and approves said bond issue for the following reasons:

1. It provides for harbor protection, conservation and flood control in an efficient manner and at reasonable cost.

2. It provides for the building of a system of check dams in the mountains and reservoirs that will store and conserve the flood waters for useful and beneficial purposes, and prevent such flood water from devastating the low lands and filling with silt the Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors.

3. It provides for rights of way and maintenance which will make available the appropriation of $1,080,000 already made by the Congress of the United States for the protection and development of Los Angeles harbor, and which appropriation cannot be used until such rights of way and maintenance charges are provided.

4. The work provided for in said report will add $25,000,000 to the assessed valuation of Los Angeles city and county property and thus reduce the rate of taxation for all purposes.

5. The work provided for in said report will prevent the tieup of business in the City of Los Angeles caused by the destruction of bridges and interruption of traffic communication, from which source alone, damage in February, 1914, was conservatively estimated to be not less than $2,500,000, or more than one half of the proposed bond issue.

6. It will provide official water channels from the mountains to the ocean, so that all flood protection work can be done hereafter, on one general plan, and prevent the wasting of money in piecemeal work as in the past.

7. At least seventy-five per cent. of the money provided by this bond issue will be used to give immediate employment to labor, which means greater prosperity for the entire community.

8. The work provided for in said report will conserve and protect citrus fruit growing and agricultural lands of Los Angeles County, upon which the growth and prosperity of the whole community is founded.

9. The work provided for in said report will prevent an average yearly damage now caused by floods to the harbors, highways, private property and business interests of Los Angeles County, which under present conditions nearly equals the amount of the proposed bond issue.

10. The proposed plan will solve the problem of conservation and control of the flood and storm waters by distributing the cost over forty years,

TO WRECK OLD PACKING HOUSE—MISS WESSELS GIVES A MUSICAL RECITAL

An old landmark that has been an eyesore to many of the residents of the east part of town is to disappear very shortly when the old Thom packing house is torn down. H. M. Potter, who recently purchased property in that part of the city, has purchased the building of Cameron Thom and will begin Tuesday to wreck the structure. Mr. Potter will use the best of the lumber in the construction of several houses which he is building on First street. The disappearance of the old packing house and the addition of several new bungalows in that vicinity will be a great improvement and Mr. Potter is proving himself a public benefactor in adding to the appearance of that section.

MUSICAL EVENING

Miss Susine Wessels gave a delightful musical evening for her pupils, Saturday, January 13, at the home of Mrs. Jeanette Smith, on West Broadway. Ensemble numbers, duets and solos were given by the pupils of this talented young violinist. The pupils taking part were Donald Wheeler, Marcella Webb, Ruth Colcord, Lavinia, Thede and Perle Olds. Miss Wessels also gave a number of charming selections which were enthusiastically received. The children played games until their elders insisted that it was time to bid their hostess good night.

FRIDAY CLUB RECIPROCITY

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett represented the Tuesday Afternoon club and Mrs. C. W. Kimberly the Thursday Afternoon club at the reciprocity day meeting of the Friday Morning club in Los Angeles on Friday, when the presidents of the various clubs in the district were the luncheon guests of that club. After dinner speeches and music by the Friday Morning club chorus added to the enjoyment of the day. The club also celebrated the birthday of the late Madame Severance, first president and considered the mother of woman's clubs. Mrs. Osgood, president emeritus, giving a few words on the life of Madame Severance. Among the after-dinner speakers were Mrs. L. B. Hogue, state vice-president at large; Mrs. Ashcroft, president of the Shakespeare club of Pasadena; Miss Ann Mumford, representing the College Woman's club of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Lloyd Harmon, Los Angeles district president.

CENTRAL AVENUE P.-T. A.

The Parent-Teacher association of Central avenue school held its regular monthly meeting at the school on Thursday afternoon. The program for the afternoon was very pleasing. Mr. Marcy, superintendent of the physical training in the Glendale schools, presented the championship for playground baseball to the team of the Central avenue school, composed of girls from the sixth and seventh grades, the school receiving a ribbon and each member of the team a certificate. Miss Vera McPherson has charge of the playground work in Central avenue school and the girls on the winning team are: Kathleen Campbell, captain; Lois Olmstead, manager; Frances Wyman, Marguerite Eckles, Virginia Holman, Frances Drake, Mildred Bettis, Marian Nixon, Margaret Morgan, Imogene Farrell and Gladys Hollingsworth. Mrs. U. F. Newlin sang two songs, "Gipsy Love" and "The Firefly," in a manner that charmed and delighted her audience. Mrs. Cree Work, chairman of education from Venice, gave a very interesting talk along educational lines. Community singing closed the program, "America" being sung, with Mrs. N. C. Kelley at the piano. Community singing is something new in P.-T. A. work and proved very successful and met with instant approval. Refreshments and a social time closed the very pleasant afternoon.

SECRETARY DANIELS SAYS HE WILL EQUIP LARGE NAVY YARD AND MANUFACTURE MUNITIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 15.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels told the House Naval Committee to-day that he plans for equipping a navy yard to build a third of the ships needed by the government and for a mammoth plant to manufacture a third of all the munitions needed. He stated that he would build two-thirds of all the ships and make two-thirds of all the munitions if the builders and manufacturers demand an "unreasonable price" for the work and that he will plan for the government to make all the equipment needed if the contractors demand "exorbitant prices."

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF CALIFORNIANS ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Supreme Court has upheld the conviction of Maury Diggs and Drew Camminetti, Californians, on the charge of violating the Mann White Slave act. The court held that the act applies to non-commercialized as well as to commercialized vice, and is strictly constitutional. A dozen other cases hinge on this one. Diggs has been sentenced to two years in a federal prison and must pay a fine of $2,000; Camminetti must serve 18 months in a federal prison and pay a fine of $1500.

A CONSUMING FIRE

REV. HABBICK SAYS GOD IS ANGRY WITH THE UNBELIEVING SINNER

Yesterday was indeed a busy day for Evangelist Habbick at the Presbyterian church where, in addition to delivering two splendid discourses to large audiences, he addressed various smaller meetings, during the early morning exercises of the Sabbath school gathering all the male classes from the boys of intermediate up to the Mens' Bible Class, into the old church building and giving them a special talk. Also addressing the Sabbath school in general.

He centered his magnificent address in the evening around the text taken from Hebrews 12:29: "For our God is a consuming fire." And he handled this great theme in a powerful manner, and swayed his vast audience from tears to laughter in his own inimitable manner.

As a prelude to his sermon Rev. Mr. Habbick said: "Now, you must get a thought in your minds with reference to the characteristics of God, before I proceed any further. You must understand that God in Christ is one thing, and God standing alone is the executor of the law; just as a judge whom you may elect to the Superior Court is a judge on the bench, he is bound to uphold the law in reference to his court. You would not want him there if he did not. That is one phase of God, and remember it, if you are going to have any respect for Him. If you took away one of the characteristics of God, you can annihilate his whole law. Sun, moon and stars could be annihilated if God's law could be set aside. No, no, you cannot do it. And his law must be enforced, just as the Superior Court judge must needs sentence a man found guilty, to the penitentiary. I would not want to live in Los Angeles if the law was not enforced. Therefore God has to enforce the law to safeguard the jewels of the universe. And, He adds, if you will accept Christ in this, I will save you."

"Now then, 'God is a consuming fire.' This is one of the shortest texts in the Bible. The shortest is 'Jesus wept.' As water puts out fire, so the tears of Jesus in redeeming agony, put out the fires of God's wrath against the sinner, when he believes."

"You know, God standing in judgment is angry with the sinner; you don't hear that preached much nowadays; but it is true, nevertheless; we have been hitting the soft pedal so much that people think religion is an emasculate thing. But God standing as a judge is angry with the unbelieving sinner now. God standing in mercy, in Jesus Christ, is willing to forgive the sinner, now. Jno. 3:36."

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." Nothing plainer than this; nothing more at variance with God than to be pleased with a disobedient sinner, continuing in sin.

"Right here let me link together three other short verses before going further into my text. 'God is Light.' 'God is Love.' 'God is Life.' However, this in no wise sets aside our text: 'God is a consuming fire.' To many this is the most awful saying in the whole Scripture. It wrangles in the memory; recurs continually to an uneasy conscience. Fire is indeed a word significant of horror. To be awakened at night by the thrilling alarm; to imagine a baby's cradle in flames, or hear of a ship aflame in mid-ocean."

"But you must know that I am not going to allow foolish sentiment to blind my eyes to the strong metaphors of Scripture. No, sir! Fire without its bounds is a terrible element and destructive force. The man who winks and blinks at sin is sure to feel its pang."

"However, fire is only horrible when its laws are disobeyed. Fire is also a word of comfort; it suggests the comfort of the home fire-side; the means of power, as in the engine which threads its way across continents, or impels the mighty ship laden with its cargo of precious souls. It suggests the strong expression of love."

"It is obvious, therefore, that fire is the synonym for horror and dismay, yet it is also full of blessing and good will. A mother's love is a consuming fire."

"Mount Sinai was terrible in flaming fire. No one was harmed if they obeyed the laws not to draw near with their sinful personalities. Sufficient that they were represented by Moses. That was under the Law. God was impressing them with His (Continued on Page 3)

PEACE MOVEMENT

PRESENT AGITATION WAS PREDICTED, SAYS EVANGELIST KNOX

"Will the War Soon Give Place to Universal Peace?" was the subject of a discourse by Evangelist Philip L. Knox at Evangel Hall, 115 South San Fernando Road last night. This was the opening service of a series of meetings to be held at the hall every night. Associated with Mr. Knox in these meetings will be Evangelist Celia Andross. To-night at 7:45 Mr. Andross will speak on the question, "Will the Final War Precede or Follow the Millennium?"

Instrumental and vocal music is being made a special feature of these meetings. The song service will begin every night at 7:15. Last night Miss Kathren Hansen rendered the solo, "His Eye is on the Sparrow." Miss Susine Wessels' violin solos were much appreciated. Several numbers were also given by the male quartet. Miss Hansen will sing again to-night.

Evangelist Knox said last night that the Bible clearly shows a great peace movement would be inaugurated at about this time in the history of the world. He read Isaiah 2:2-6, showing that "In the last days" many people would join in this great move for disarmament, and propose to beat their weapons into implements of agriculture. "But the Lord declares in this prophecy that they are soothsayers," added the evangelist.

Reading to his audience Joel 3:9-13 he continued: "These two Scriptures hold out before us the two great movements, and show us that while the nations of to-day would be piling up enormous preparations for war, there would also be a movement to bring about universal peace. We see this very condition in the world to-day. While the war preparations are staggering the nations, many pacifists are singing the universal peace song. Men tell us the world is soon to enjoy 1000 years of freedom from war, that the 'guarantees for the future' will insure the earth against a repetition of the present awful slaughter. But the Lord says in I Thess. 5:3, 'When they shall say peace, and safety, then sudden destruction cometh upon them.'"

"Two and a half years ago the world was suddenly awakened to the fact that war, like a mighty giant, was stalking through the land. The world's most powerful nations suddenly turned upon each other in an outburst of rage. To-day 15 great nations have mustered the mightiest armies that every trod the earth. They are equipped with the most death-dealing instruments of warfare ever invented. While the world stands gazing in perplexity upon the scene, the Bible like a great torchlight illuminates the future, and makes plain the events just before us. Thousands of sober-thinking citizens are fully convinced that this war is a sign of the end of all things earthly. Cardinal Gibbons says it looks as if the Scriptures are being fulfilled, and that the great war is a sign that the end is near."

"Revelation 11:18 tells us that 'The nations were angry, and Thy (God's) wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints and them that fear thy name, small and great, and shouldst destroy them that destroy the earth.' The prophet is shown that the days at the time of the great judgment will be days of warfare. Luke 21:25-27 gives the answer of Christ to the question, 'What shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?' He said, 'There shall be . . . upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity. The prophet Jeremiah, shown in vision the earth in its present condition, exclaimed, 'My anguish, my anguish, I am pained at my very heart, because thou hast heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war. Destruction upon destruction is cried.'"

The evangelist urged his hearers to give their hearts to God, saying that a bright future awaits those who are living from day to day in harmony with Bible truths. He said that now, as never before, men ought to surrender to their Creator and Redeemer, that during the troublous times yet to come they may be protected by Divine power.

GLENDALE'S PROTECTION FROM FIRE

A writer of fire insurance has made the statement that in the past few months fire insurance rates in Glendale have been raised on business and residence property on account of poor protection in case of fire breaking out. It has been stated upon good authority that the extra money paid in premiums for fire insurance in the course of five years in the city of Glendale would amount to many times the cost of approved fire-fighting apparatus.

Conditions in Glendale are somewhat peculiar. It is impossible to find a resident of this city who is blind to the fact that better fire-fighting apparatus is needed and yet when it comes to an election to provide money for that purpose, the majority of the voters either stay at home and do not vote at all or else they get out and fight against the proposition. There seems to be a little indifference, a little contrariness and a little something else that readers may name as they think best. The time has come again when taxpayers are saying to representatives of the Evening News: "Why do you not advocate the city's making provisions for successfully fighting fire?" It seems rather out of place to take newspaper space to advocate a project like this when it was so recently voted down. The queer part about the little opposition the bond election had several weeks ago is that those who voted against the bonds all claim to be very much in favor of better fire protection.

Why would it not be in place at this time, since the question is one that the property owners of Glendale are vitally interested in, to call a mass meeting, not under the auspices of any Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade or organization of that kind, but have such a meeting called by order of the people at large in Glendale. And then at such a meeting take up for consideration the question of better fire protection. At this meeting or at a meeting that might follow, designate the kind of fire-fighting apparatus that should be purchased and decide upon the amount of bonds that should be voted and after all of this is arranged for, petition the board of trustees to take the matter up in regular form. A plan thus promulgated by the citizens in general should meet with the approval of a majority of the voters at the time of an election. This idea is one that has originated in the mind of the editor of the Evening News and is not at all the result of any suggestions from any source. It would seem a very sensible way of proceeding to get what the people want. By taking the question up in this form the board of trustees could not feel that they are being deprived of any of their rights, and the people in general would have the privilege of expressing their views on this important question.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE CANNING

Prof. Cruess, assistant professor of Zymology in the University of California, has prepared a circular on "Home and Farm Canning," in which he says the problem has now been solved of canning vegetables without the repeated heatings which have been necessary in the past, which were troublesome and expensive and injurious to flavor and texture. The new method is merely the addition of a little acid to the liquid in which the vegetables are canned. He has proved, for example, that peas keep perfectly after being heated to 212 degrees F. in a brine containing five ounces of lemon-juice to every gallon, while peas heated in the same brine without lemon-juice spoil. The same results have been obtained with beans, pumpkins, beets, turnips, artichokes and asparagus.

Great quantities of fruits and vegetables go to waste every year on the farms of California, or are sold at prices which return little profit, says Professor Cruess. He points out the opportunity the farm household has to find a local market for home products of this kind at profitable prices, to the benefit of farmer and consumer alike.

When canned fruits or vegetables spoil, says Professor Cruess, it is because of the growth of one of three different groups of microscopic vegetable organisms, such as the blue-green molds of spoiled fruits, the yeasts familiar in bread-making, and the bacteria found in the scum and "mother" of vinegar. None of these organisms ever arises from non-living matter, so if all the germs can be killed by heat and the air be kept out, neither mold, yeast, nor bacteria will cause spoiling.

The molds and yeasts are quickly killed at temperatures below the boiling point of water, but the bacteria on vegetables are astonishingly resistant to heat. Often they can stand the temperature of boiling water for an hour or more—but with the use of lemon juice this problem is solved.

The flavor and texture of fresh fruits can be much better retained if they are canned at low temperatures, and Professor Cruess has succeeded in safely sterilizing peaches, apricots, pears, cherries, and berries at temperatures of from 165 degrees F. to 175 degrees F., by filling the cans with fruit and a fairly heavy syrup and keeping the cans in hot water, kept at 175 degrees F., for ten to twenty minutes, with occasional stirring to hasten the penetration of the heat.

The housewife's success with her canning and preserving will be much aided, says Professor Cruess, if she will use a good thermometer, costing a dollar, and a "saccharometer," or sugar-tester, costing about 75 cents, which is useful in making the sugar syrups of the desired strength.

The widespread notion that beet sugar is not as good as cane sugar for putting up fruit is declared by Professor Cruess to be now without foundation, since cane sugar and beet sugar are exactly the same thing chemically.

Special individual directions are given by Professor Cruess for new and improved methods for canning apples, peaches, apricots, plums, cherries, blackberries, loganberries, raspberries, strawberries, currants, cranberries, gooseberries, grapes, figs, rhubarb, pineapple, oranges, and ripe olives.

To can vegetables, says Professor Cruess, is an effective means of providing for a varied family table and yet keeping down expenses, so he gives special instructions for canning artichokes, asparagus, green beans, beets, carrots, sweet corn, peas, peppers, pimientos, tomatoes, including ways of canning tomatoes whole, so they may be sliced for salads, and pumpkin, so that the California family may have pumpkin pie all the year round.

FEWER MEASURES INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE

The lawmakers of the state are reported to have few laws in their possession to introduce. Practically all solons throw up their hands and say they have no new laws to bring before the two houses. Senator Chandler of Fresno is very emphatic in his statement that there have been too many laws enacted in the past and says it is the duty of legislators to stop passage of bills even more than to pass them. He is determined to devote much of his time to stopping promiscuous legislation. Such a resolution firmly adhered to will meet with a great deal of support among thinking people. The people are asking fewer laws at this session and indications are that fewer freak measures will come up than ever before. The masses of the people would be grateful to the members of the legislature if they would repeal a lot of the needless statutes, abolish a lot of the needless commissions and then go home without enacting any new laws.

Of course, measures are being introduced that are good and meet with the favor of the people, but the tendency has been in the past to enact too much legislation, some of which is not only needless but actually harmful.

NEED OF FACTORIES

The statement is often made that California does not have its share of factories because there is not sufficient power. Our mountain streams are running unharnessed to the sea and it is only necessary to utilize them and produce electric current to turn millions of factory wheels. Legislation in California has not been favorable to manufacturing enterprises. The manufacturer may not be very philanthropic in his views, but from the very nature of his operations his work brings benefit and prosperity to the community in which he operates. If California wishes to share to the fullest measure in the prosperity that comes from manufactures, she will have to change her political program and enact legislation that is more favorable to factories.

OAKLAND FIGHTS CONSOLIDATION

Assurances of support for Oakland in its fight against the San Francisco scheme to "consolidate" the bay cities into itself continue to be received at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The latest to pledge their support are Louis Tarke of West Butte, Assemblyman from the Eighth district, and E. R. Shepherd of Whittier, Assemblyman from the Sixty-eighth district.

Not only legislators but newspapers all over California are backing Oakland in its fight to retain its identity.

The Oakland Chamber already has a trained observer in Sacramento watching the legislature. As soon as need arises, a strong committee will go to the state capital to impress upon the lawmakers the rights of Oakland to decide its own destiny.

VODEVIL ANNOUNCED AT HIGH SCHOOL

At nine o'clock this morning the assembly gong rang and six hundred students gathered in the auditorium to hear the news of the Alumni Vodevil.

The first speaker whom Mr. Moyses announced was Jim Henry Ilse, the president of the Alumni Association. Mr. Ilse, after outlining the purpose of the students' loan fund, told why vodevil had been selected for this year's performance. He declared vodevil to be the most popular form of entertainment at the present time. Mr. Ferguson said there were three reasons why G. U. H. S. students should not only attend, but boost the show. One reason, he said, was the fact that the show offers more in fun than is asked in cash. Another reason was the fact that every graduate becomes an alumnus as soon as he leaves the school. The two bodies have a very close relation. Mr. Ferguson's third argument was the noble purpose of the enterprise.

Mr. Moyses stated that worthy students had already been assisted in attending the university.

It was announced that tickets may be bought for both performances at the Palace Grand box office, Cornwell & Kelly's hardware store, and from students at the school. 10-20-30.

GARDEN SOCIETY SOCIAL

The regular monthly social meeting of the Glendale Garden Society will take place on Thursday evening, the 18th inst. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson will speak on Civic Recreation Centers. The new 12-page Garden Society handbook will be distributed. Tea will be served and a delightful musical program has been arranged. The names of refreshment hostesses and musical artists will appear in a later announcement. All the Garden Society meetings are open to the public and a cordial welcome exists for all. NANNY WOODS, president, GdLe. Sunset 394. MORRIS E. CARRUTHERS, secretary, Sunset 395W.

Facts and Comment

The Sugar Beet Growers' Association of Southern California has been organized by more than 300 beet growers of Southern California for the purpose of securing better returns for their production. The headquarters will be at Los Angeles. The officers are Alex. Jeffrey of Zelzah, president; L. W. Richardson, Van Nuys, vice-president; R. B. Smith, Zelzah, secretary; F. E. Davis, San Fernando valley, general manager.

WELCOME RUDLEYS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rudley, formerly of Chicago, are now located at 1024 Fairview avenue, and seventeen relatives participated in a house warming for them Saturday evening. Roses, carnations, lilies and ferns were used in masses in decorating the supper room, while a glowing fire added cheer to the scene. A delicious buffet supper was served, and the evening hours passed rapidly in merrymaking.

Those participating were Omar S. Richardson and wife, Harriett; Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Will C. B. Richardson and wife, Clara; Harry S. Richardson and wife Martha; Frank Richardson and wife Pearl; Misses Eulalia and Jane Richardson, Alexander, Paul, John and Frank, Jr., Richardson. All the guests were children or grandchildren of the late pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. B. Richardson of Tropic.

DEATH OF ELIZABETH ANN BROWN

Personals

Mrs. Ada Atkinson and Mrs. Jessie Hudson were luncheon guests today of Mrs. Laurence Williams of Casa Verdugo.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of 106 Orange street attended the luncheon given by Circle Five of the Temple Baptist church in Los Angeles Friday.

Roy McUmbur of 2158 West Twenty-ninth street, Los Angeles, was a Sunday guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beers of 1435 Burchett street. Mr. McUmbur is a brother of Mrs. Beers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Saeger of 1215 North Central avenue left Saturday for Tujunga, where they expect to spend the greater part of the winter for the benefit of Mrs. Saeger, who is troubled with asthma.

H. M. Potter has purchased the old citrus fruit packing house at the corner of Glendale avenue and First street. Mr. Potter's plan is to remove the old building and erect a fine new residence in its stead.

W. S. Perrin, vice-president of the First National Bank of Glendale, received word last week of the death of his father, J. Perrin, who resided near Lincoln, Nebraska. Mr. Perrin was almost eighty-two years of age. He visited his son here for a short while a few years ago. His death occurred on Wednesday.

First street and Glendale avenue have been the scene of very much activity for the past two weeks. The Keystone Film Co. of Los Angeles has been staging a railroad scene and are now building a monster locomotive of wood and heavy cardboard, which will be destroyed in a wreck near Verdugo park next Sunday.

Omission was made in the account of the installation of the officers of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps on last Thursday of the name of Mrs. Dutton as installing conductor. The corps presented Mrs. Peck, the retiring president, with a bracelet, and Mrs. Dutton, as installing conductor, and Mrs. Imler, as installing officer, were each presented with a handsome token by the new corps of officers.

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met at the home of Mrs. E. W. Kinney, 1223 West Seventh street, Friday, when the first act of "Il Trovatore" was reviewed and illustrated by Miss Mildred Pray on the piano. A number of new members were received and they were very enthusiastic over the splendid opportunity offered by having such an instructor as Mrs. Lynde, who is so well versed and such an authority on musical matters. The next meeting of the section will be held on January 26.

At a special meeting of Redondo Woman's Relief Corps held on Saturday, January 13, the newly-elected officers were installed by Susie Peck, past president of N. P. Banks Corps of Tropic, ably assisted by Alma Dutton acting as conductor, with Louise Purnell, Edith Bruck, Mayme Pollock and Lillian Peckham as color bearers. The incoming president, Mrs. Jenkins, was until recently one of the earnest workers of N. P. Banks Corps. At the conclusion a bountiful dinner was served by the ladies, after which the Post duly installed their officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Frances Moore of Delavan, Wis., has been the guest to-day of Mrs. H. R. Boyer of 212 Orange street.

The Misses Hazel Foster and Virginia Mays of Los Angeles and Marian and Florence Myers of El Monte spent Sunday at the J. B. Doner home on Orange street.

Arthur Elliott, Arthur Whipple, Irvin Grist and C. E. Grist motored to Palmdale Sunday on a rabbit hunt. The boys got the limit in two and a half hours of hunting.

Mrs. T. H. Addison of 316 Belmont street, who has been ill, is able to be up and around again, her friends will be glad to learn, although she has not entirely recovered her usual good health.

On account of the inclemency of the weather last Saturday morning, the members of the Bird and Flower association gave up their weekly trip. The usual outing will take place next Saturday.

S. Vickers and wife of Highland Park were the week-end guests of E. B. Van Alstine and family of 1447 Riverdale drive. The Vickers and Van Alstines were neighbors in South Dakota for several years. The two families spent Sunday motoring through the Monte Vista Valley and over the new state highway to San Fernando. The Vickers are much pleased with Southern California and with Glendale and its surroundings.

Mrs. Henry Stockbridge and mother, Mrs. Yantis of Long Beach, have been the guests the past week of Mrs. Dora H. Glazier of 900 Lomita avenue. Mr. Stockbridge will join them to-morrow to spend a week or two at the Glazier home. The Stockbridges are former residents of Glendale and Mr. Stockbridge owns property on Lomita avenue. He is a member of the Fair and Warner company of the Mason Opera house and was with the Burbank stock company for some time.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones and daughter Winifred attended the meeting of the California History and Landmarks Club held in Los Angeles Saturday in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Cahuenga. Among others in attendance was John H. Braly, who reports a very interesting program. The room was not adequate to hold the people who came and many had to stand. A very splendid paper was read by Mrs. Maccley Walker, president of the San Fernando Ebelle club, the subject of her paper being Gen. Andres Pico.

Among the Glendale people who attended the banquet held by former residents of Marshalltown, Iowa, at the Shakespeare club house in Pasadena Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Parker, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. March, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby and Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer. About 400 former Iowa residents were present at the banquet, at which a number of toasts were given. An entertaining program was given, after which the evening was spent in dancing and renewing old friendships and acquaintances.

FOOTHILL CLUB

Mrs. W. E. Hewitt of 728 North Louise street will be hostess to the members of the Foothill club, Friday afternoon, January 19.

holiness and their uncleanness. A lesson still to be taught to this generation.

"Mount Calvary: The fire of God was a terrible thing on Mount Calvary when the Son of God met the sinner's guilt on that hill long ago. Some people get a horror of sin in its loathsome manifestation in poor human beings; but I get a picture of sin, that makes me wonder, on Calvary. Calvary may be in a measure a mystery, but one thing stands out like blood-red letters on the sky, viz.: 'He bore our sins in his own body on the tree.' Sin has blinded us to this great fact. It is the supreme fact of the Universe. God's consuming fire, falling on Jesus, because of our sins. No man can recognize God as Father, until he recognizes the sin question settled on Calvary.

"Pentecost. Here is the day when the finished work of Christ enabled God the Father and God the Son to pour forth the Holy Spirit, to come and dwell within the believing sinner's breast in a consuming, lambent flame of Love, destroying sin, and creating holiness in the bosoms that only knew carnality.

"Our God is a consuming fire." There is comfort and blessing in the thought. We are living in the Gospel Age, the Age of God's Grace; I don't know how long it will last; for some of us it may be through tonight; but as a Gospel preacher I know I am to herald the fact that God is reconciled in Christ to every believing sinner.

"To conclude: (a) Fire is warmth. Christianity, unhindered, is ardent desire and warm emotion. (b) Fire is light. The natural man's light, as to fellowship with God, went out when Adam sinned. But when man cries to God for aid, the light shineth again, in a dark place. Satan's work is to darken the soul as to Jesus. 2 Cor. 4:4.

"Little blind boy, recovering his sight, enthusiastically and joyously proclaimed to every one: 'Oh, you should see my Doctor, what a grand man my Doctor is.' Irrepressible in his exclamations of love and admiration for the one who had done so much for him. So should the true Christian be: on fire with love and holy zeal for the Christ who has done so much for him. Who has made it possible for him to come to God through Him; the only true and living God. There may be other gods many, but remember the God of the Bible.

"Our God is a consuming fire." A number signified their desire to become Christians at the close of the sermon, and a large after-meeting was held, and joy and comfort reigned in the hearts of those to whom this work of the salvation of souls is dear.

There will be services every night this week at 7:30 p. m. In addition there will be a special Young People's service Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m., to which all young people under the age of 100 are cordially invited. Parents, Christians, workers, everywhere, come and bring those under your care with you. Remember, Wednesday, 4 p. m.

Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. Habbick will speak on "Fads and Fancies, Cults and Isms."

Thursday evening he will give his own experience, which is strikingly unique. Has Mr. Alcohol or Mr. Drug Habit got you by the throat, my dear fellow man? If so, come and hear Mr. Habbick next Thursday evening. He will tell you some things, from experience.

PLANT WALNUT TREES

The walnut industry of California has never been in better shape than it is to-day. The quality of the crops when prepared for market is perceptibly higher than it was even five years ago. The new plantings of late having been of grafted trees of improved varieties and the pulling out of the seedlings that have not paid well on account of blight and light production has raised the standard of the whole walnut crop.

Varieties suitable for certain sections of the state have been proven out and are now producing well where formerly the wrong varieties were both unproductive and of poor quality.

Owners of land suitable for walnut growing have not heretofore planted walnut trees because of uncertainty as to the proper varieties to plant, but now there is no need of hesitation on that point since trees are coming into bearing in so many sections that a little investigation will uncover all of the information desired.

Nurserymen with walnut trees for sale can readily refer prospective buyers of trees to bearing trees of the varieties that they have propagated in their nurseries and by interviewing the growers they will get at first hand the information that they need.

Prospective walnut growers should bear in mind that California has a practical monopoly of the walnut industry so far as the best varieties are concerned, and it is these best varieties that bring the advance in price which means good profits for the grower. Also by modern methods of grafting and budding on the native California walnut stocks, vigorous trees much more even in growth are secured and there is absolutely no doubt regarding the increased production per acre. PACIFIC ELECTRIC NEWS

From the Pacific Electric Magazine, a journal issued monthly by the employees of the Pacific Electric, we glean the following items:

"A double-track curve connection between Sixth street and surface tracks in the rear of the main station has been authorized. This will facilitate the turning of Glendale-Burbank line trains and save much lost motion in tying on trailers in building up trains during the rush hours."

"On Burbank line, December 22, an additional train was put on to connect at Arden Junction with Glendale line train leaving Los Angeles 11:30 p. m. to afford Burbank people an opportunity to stay a little while among the bright lights after the theatre."

"At the last meeting of the agents' association, in addition to a very interesting program, the annual election of officers was held, resulting in the election for president of Mr. Charles L. Smith, agent at Azusa; for vice-president, Mrs. Ernest Coulter, agent at San Bernardino, and the reelection for secretary of Mr. H. L. LeGrand, agent at Glendale."

The new Pacific Electric Club for employees was recently dedicated with a three day housewarming, when approximately 4000 members of the big family visited the club.

WHITTIER NEWS' SPECIAL NUMBER

The Whittier News has just issued their annual number, a sixty-eight page edition in magazine form. The paper gives much space to the walnut and citrus industry of that section of the South as well as to the business activities of the city. Whittier's schools, churches and clubs are represented and many cuts of beautiful homes are shown. A novel feature of the edition is embraced in several pages of Whittier's prize babies. Advertisers evidently recognize the value of the paper as a publicity medium, as the advertising columns have been well patronized.

"I can't understand why those two lawyers call it a deed of trust."

"Why not?"

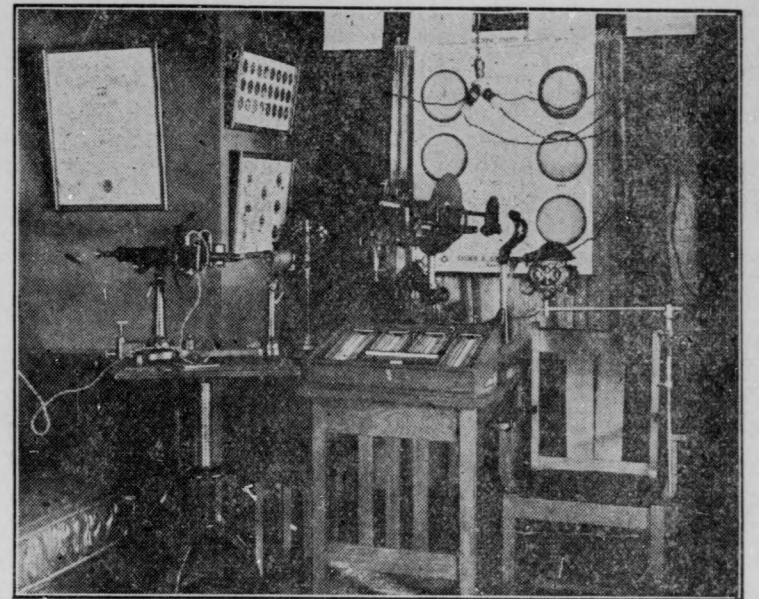

"From the care with which they are drawing it up it is quite evident that they don't trust each other."

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

dedicated above, no particular variety of walnut can fairly be recommended for planting everywhere for it has been clearly proven that at least one variety which succeeds well in Central California is worthless for planting in Southern California.

In addition to the merits of the question of walnut planting from the standpoint of growth and production the marketing end so far as large commercial crops is concerned is taken care of by the Walnut Growers' association, which by reason of its careful management, has steadily advanced the price until walnut growers have no one to blame but themselves if they do not realize a nice profit from their walnut trees.—Home and Farmer Section.

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND BEST EQUIPPED ESTABLISHMENT IN THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

FOREST FIRE FIGHTERS

The Forest Ranger meeting in Berkeley, made up of one hundred forest rangers and supervisors from the eighteen national forests in California, were the guests Friday of the San Francisco fire department and were given an address of welcome to San Francisco by Mayor Rolph at the department's drill grounds. This is the first time in the history of California that the men who fight the fires in the forests and mountains were ever given a chance to see their "city cousins" in action.

The Rangers were met at the Ferry building, and in automobiles and squad wagons provided by Chief Al Murphy and Chief Chas. Murray were driven to Engine House No. 12 where a false alarm was staged in order to show the speed at which the city fire fighters answer a call. From here the forest officers were hurried down to the water front and loaded aboard Fire Tug No. 1 for a ride about the bay, during which the boat went into action to the great delight of the forest men.

After this a trip was made to a high pressure pumping plant, and then to the drill tower and grounds of San Francisco's firemen. An exhibition drill of ladder scaling and net work rescue drill was staged, and the city laddies went through their work with much applause from the Rangers.

After a short address of welcome from Mayor Rolph, a fast run was made to the Central Alarm station in Jefferson Square—where the chief in charge exhibited the intricate network of wires and instruments that register thousands of calls turned in yearly from all parts of the city. To men accustomed to fighting fire attackable only by shovel and ax, the intricate mechanism of the city system was a source of much interest and admiration. Every ranger voted it the best trip of the convention. The city firemen were asked to return the visit on the national forests and were promised information as to the best trout fishing and deer hunting on their next vacation in the mountains.

GLASSES NOW QUITE AU FAIT

No longer does "de gang" call Reginald Harold Smythe "four eyes" or salute Percival Williams as "goggles" just because their fond mothers have had them equipped with eyeglasses, for modern science and the school nurses have seen to it that Patsie Murphy and that tough Doolan kid have made trips to the oculist, too. It has been found that children who have been thought mentally defective merely have had trouble with their eyes, and that much of the stupidity and many of the headaches displayed in the classroom have been due to eye strain.

Dealers in optical goods hesitate to hazard an opinion as to whether the eyes of people in these modern days have deteriorated, or whether the close application necessary in the business world does not merely show up defects which would not otherwise be noted. For instance, a farmer who read but little would not notice any strain if he was far-sighted. But set him down over books or letters for a few days and he would have to make a quick trip to the oculist.

At any rate, the change in conditions and the discovery of the importance of proper care of the eyes have built up a business in lens grinding which probably amounts to a quarter of a million dollars yearly in Los Angeles. One large house alone grinds about a hundred pair of lenses a day.

The work of grinding lenses looks rather simple to the ignorant spectator. The optical glass comes in squares considerably larger and thicker than the finished lens. The oculist's prescription is in numbers, which correspond to certain degrees of different curvature. Emery dust between the revolving lens and the die shapes the glass. Then comes grinding with a finer grade of emery and the final polishing with felt and rouge.

The lens is then cut to the desired size and shape with a diamond pointed cutter, and the edges ground and smoothed. The last step is the fitting of the bridge and rims. The most popular style nowadays is the rimless glass, though those wishing something more conspicuous affect the heavily rimmed tortoise shell glass which was originally used only in the library or study because of its lightness and comfort.

LEMON FANCHONETTES

Invert plain patty pans and cover the outside with plain paste. Prick the paste with a fork here and there over the top and sides. Arrange the pans on a cookie sheet and bake well in a hot oven. Remove from the pans and fill shells with the following mixture: Dilute 2½ tablespoons of cornstarch with a quarter cup of cold water, stir into 1 cup boiling water; cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly, then cook over hot water 15 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon of butter and 2-3 of a cup of sugar. Remove from the fire, add the juice and grated rind of 1 large lemon, and the yolks of 3 eggs well beaten. Turn into the baked patty crusts, spread with a meringue, and return to a moderate oven to cook and brown the meringue.

HE GOT THE RAISE

"You want more money? Why, my boy, I worked three years for $11 a month right in this establishment, and now I'm owner of it."

"Well, you see what happened to your boss, No man who treats his help that way can hang on to his business."

"Your husband is worse. Did you forget the medicine?"

"So as not to forget it I gave him the whole bottle at once."—Brown's Magazine.

EARLY TRADEMARKS

The recognition of trademarks by English law may be said to date only from the beginning of the nineteenth century, but the use of trademarks was, of course, of far earlier date.

So far back as the reign of James I. a certain clothier applied the mark of another clothier to his own inferior goods, but the reports of the lawsuit which ensued leave it doubtful whether the action was brought by the owner of the mark or by an indignant customer, in which latter case it would simply be an ordinary action for fraud.

In 1742 Lord Hardwicke declared that "every particular trader has some particular mark or stamp." At the same time his lordship refused to grant the protection of the law to the "Great Mogul" stamp on cards. He was apparently under the impression that the legal recognition of trademarks meant the creation of a new kind of monopoly, and he made up his mind to obviate such possibility.

Lord Eldon, on the other hand, repeatedly granted injunctions to restrain one trader from fraudulently "passing off" his goods as those of another and thus helped to lay a foundation on which the present trademark law has been built up in successive stages.—London Standard.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S PRAYER

"We beseech thee, Lord, to behold us with favor, folk of many families and nations, gathered together in the peace of thy roof, weak men and women subsisting under the cover of thy patience. Be patient still; suffer us yet awhile longer—with our broken purposes of good, with our idle endeavors against evil, suffer us awhile longer to endure and (if it may be) help us to do better. Bless to us our extraordinary mercies; if the day come when these must be taken, brace us to play the man under affliction. Be with our friends, be with ourselves. Go with each of us to rest; if any awake, temper to them the dark hours of watching; and when the day returns, return to us, our sun and comforter, and call us up with morning faces and with morning hearts—eager to be happy, if happiness shall be our portion—and if the day be marked for sorrow, strong to endure it. Amen."

THE BLACK MAN'S BURDEN

The late Booker T. Washington used to tell this story: He said in one of the black counties of Southern Mississippi a meeting was held in the city hall at the county seat for the purpose of organizing a movement to encourage the emigration from the north of desirable skilled labor. As one of the promoters of the plan was leaving the building after the gathering had adjourned, he was halted by an aged darky of his acquaintance.

"Kunneel," inquired the old man, "whut you-all been doin' in thar to-night?"

"We're trying to work up a scheme to bring more white people down here," explained the gentleman. "What do you think of the idea, Uncle Zach?"

"W'y, boss," said Zach, "dey's already mo' white folks in dis county now dan us niggers kin suppo' it."—Exchange.

AT THE DOOR

I thought myself indeed secure, So fast the door, so firm the lock; But lo! the toddling comes to lure My parent ear with timorous knock.

My heart were stone could it withstand

The sweetness of my baby's plea, That timorous baby knocking and "Please let me in—it's only me."

I threw aside the unfinished book, Regardless of its tempting charm, And, opening wide the door, I took My laughing darling in my arms.

Who knows but in Eternity, I, like a truant child, shall wait The glories of a life to be, Beyond the Heavenly Father's gate?

And will that Heavenly Father heed The truant's supplicating cry, As at the outer door I plead, "It is I, O Father, only I."

—Eugene Field.

GENIUS AND APPETITE

Sir Francis Galton held that a good appetite is one of the attributes of genius. "Most notabilities have been great eaters and excellent digesters on the same principle that the furnace which can raise more steam than is usual for one of its size must burn more freely and well than is common." Scott was of the same opinion. In a letter to Canning respecting an article promised to the Quarterly Review he advises him to break the neck of it after a hearty meal, "preferably of boiled chicken." And he practiced what he preached, for, like Tennyson, Dickens, Thackeray and many other nineteenth century authors, Scott was an excellent trencherman.—London Opinion.

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt. LeNoir Church

NO. 4. WHAT CAN I DO BEST—AND WHY?

"Yes, you are right; Jack is the very best salesman in our business," said the sales manager of a company having hundreds of salesmen on its payroll.

"That is interesting," I replied, "but what is the reason for Jack's superiority?"

"The secret is his PERSONALITY," said the sales manager, with conviction.

"That is certainly something worth knowing. But what IS Personality?" I asked, as if wishing further information about the alleged key to such great success in salesmanship, the Science and ART back of all Business Building in any line of endeavor.

"Why, PERSONALITY is," began the sales manager promptly. Then he paused, look confused. Then he continued, a bit lamely: "Why, everybody knows what personality is. It is just—blest if I know what the dictionary gives it. I never before tried to define it. Why, YOU know what PERSONALITY is, don't you?"

"Yes," replied I, "but evidently you do not know."

There was the head of a vast sales department, asserting that the great secret of successful salesmanship is something which he admits he cannot define.

"It is to laugh," said I; for I really wished to make him feel embarrassed so the need for further information about that vital thing, PERSONALITY, would sink into his inner consciousness and make him realize his technical ignorance.

It did, all right, and he did.

"Tell it to me," he asked meekly, "for I see that you know."

"Well, I ought to know," I replied, "for I have been studying hard to find out for at least seven years."

"I see the point," he said, laughing. "Now, I will make a proposition to you. Saturday afternoon about a hundred of our salespeople, men and women, will meet me in our assembly room. They will be at leisure by three o'clock and be curious to know what PERSONALITY is. I'll see that their curiosity is duly excited. Then, if you will come there and tell us in, say, half an hour's talk, which they will confess is convincing, you can—well, just send your bill to me. The information will be cheap at most any old price."

I did and, yes, he did—to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned.

The superficial meaning of Personality is found in the Latin word, persona, a mask put on by a player to indicate the part he or she was to act in the drama. It was supposed to aid the player to act and, for the time, LIVE the character assumed.

After all, is not that very thing the secret of successful selling? Think it over. Furthermore, consider that all business is selling.

Then think further, what would be the probable result if you were so trained in salesmanship that you needed no such mask, because your whole character was developed to best express and actually LIVE in your business, the part the old mask was intended to portray.

If you could really DO that, what kind of salary would be offered you by men like Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, and many others who continually, but vainly, seek employees worth from ten thousand to one hundred thousand dollars per year?

If PERSONALITY be the "Open Sesame" to such achievement, you probably would like to know two things, at least, about it.

First: What is Personality?

Second: How may I certainly acquire it?

Of course nothing so important and far-reaching in great results is likely to be learned practically in a day or a month. But it can be learned in a surprisingly short time if one goes at it rightly and sticks to it grimly and faithfully—determined to win the great self-secret.

The paramount need of twentieth-century business is a legion of men and women who have acquired that wonderful secret.

"It is difficult to teach an old dog new tricks," but usually only because his egoism prevents him from seeing the necessity for trying to learn them.

However, there are more old business men "learning new tricks" in business than ever before since the history of successful business, as a scientific achievement, began to be written. The reason of that progress is this: More old business men and women realize that such learning WILL PAY wonderful returns on all cost—whether of TIME, LABOR or MONEY.

Besides, after a certain number of competitors have begun doing things in a new way which proves successful to a marked degree, then a great many others of that class are compelled to follow suit or drop behind in the procession.

Business generally, like Nature, is concerned primarily with the TYPE—the SPECIES—leaving the individual to look out for results of natural progress born of growing intelligence and more enlightened effort.

Whenever you are ready to practically learn what constitutes that puissant PERSONALITY, the way will be opened.

(To be continued.)

NOTE: Few business men realize that a different application of the same scientific system of RECEIVING and GIVING which develops human character, would also build up the PERSONALITY of a town to such a marked degree that its fixed values would soon be doubled, and keep on increasing—and then keep on keeping on.

There would be no vacant houses in such a town. Make note of it.

THE ROMANS DRESSED FOR DINNER

A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance to the home of the host he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

As he disliked motor cars, a country squire always kept good horses. Recently he bought a particularly handsome mare, and a few days later asked his groom what he thought of the new arrival. "She's a fine-looking animal, sir," replied the man, "but I'm afraid she's a bit touchy." "Why do you think so?" questioned the squire. "She doesn't seem to take to no one, sir. She can't bear me to go into her box to groom her." "Oh, she'll settle down in a few days," the squire reassured him. "Everything's strange to her, you know. I don't think there's much wrong with her temper." "Nor didn't I at first sir," replied the groom. "But you see, she's kicked me out o' that there box twice already, and, when you come to think of it, that's very convincin'."
